

Bivvy Proofing,

Over time the coating on the outside of the fabric will wear a good indicator is when the material goes darker and it appears to hold water at this stage the material will no longer form droplets on the fabric and run off easily.

We recommend when you notice these symptoms that you re-proof the material or annually whichever is soonest.

The product we recommend is Fabsil Gold because it won't affect the breathability of the Aquatexx. This can be purchased directly from ourselves at www.aquaproducts.co.uk.

We recommend the brush on version as we feel it's more economic with less waste. Simply apply to the bivvy/brolly with either a brush or an atomiser spray, wipe off any excess build up with a clean and dry cloth and ensure that its completely dry before you pack it away.

Follow these actions and it will provide you with added protection for another year.
